

CORPORATE COMMUNICATIONS

- To $90,000 plus benefits
- Multinational Firm
- Development and Growth Opportunity

Long regarded as an innovative and pioneering force by its industry peers this company has an enviable track record of achievement in Australia. Forming part of a truly global organisation with operations in the USA, Europe and Asia it undoubtedly has the scale and reach to provide on the ground solutions to its impressive client base. The Australian operation has offices in Melbourne, Sydney, Brisbane, Adelaide and Perth.

The company has recently announced new business initiatives which will see it emerge as the pre-eminent firm in Corporate Communications consulting in Australia. Already possessing a 'blue-chip' clientele, the emphasis of this role will be positioning and growing the business for even greater success.

This role will report to the National Practice Leader and will in effect be the second most senior position in the division.

The responsibilities of the role will be wide ranging and varied to include;

- Assist in building and maintaining a profitable, industry leading consulting practice
- Scope and manage client projects, taking into account broader strategic business impact
- Deliver innovative communications solutions to a diverse and hungry market

Candidate requirements are clear. You will have strong interpersonal skills and the charisma and fortitude to make a real and tangible difference from day one. A track record of building and sustaining profitable business from within the PR, Direct Marketing, or Communications Industry would be particularly advantageous in this role.
