

NATIONAL HUMAN RESOURCES MGR

- $90,000 - $100,000 plus super
- 12 Month Maternity Cover Contract
- Melbourne CBD

Tracing its origins back to the early 1930's this Australian company has long had a reputation for the quality and innovation of its service offering. Today it forms part of a truly global organisation committed to maintaining its impressive track record of achievement.

The organisation has a history of success and the rapid growth they have undergone in recent years has been due to increased demand from the blue chip clients they serve. They have recently secured three awards in a BRW survey. The only firm to do so.

Reporting to the Chairman, the role will lead the National HR Division delivering the HR function to over 750 employees in Victoria, New South Wales, South Australia, ACT and Western Australia. Responsible for 6 staff this is a Generalist role and whilst responsibilities will be varied and wide ranging it will almost certainly include;

- Acting as a point of contact for Expert HR related enquiries from both internal and external customers
- Lead, manage and develop the HR team
- Provide expert HR coaching, guidance and advice to Senior and Middle Level Managers
- Identifying and encouraging talented individuals to become part of the success story of the firm
- Managing the National Induction Process
- Keeping up to date with IR legislative changes and ensure compliance of HR policies and processes.

Candidates will have outstanding communication and negotiation skills and be comfortable dealing at various levels and balancing the needs of multiple stakeholders in a multi-site environment. A commercial and proactive approach combined with a strong customer service ethic is essential to success in this role.

This is a fantastic next step for an HR practitioner looking to develop their career and implement and manage a number of HR projects in a dynamic and ever-changing business
